

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

GILMAN ALFRED ROY VELO III, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

V.

UNIVERSAL TRACING SERVICES,
INC.; and RON LARSEN a/k/a RONALD LARSEN,

Defendants.

C14-587 TSZ

ORDER

THIS MATTER comes before the Court on plaintiffs' renewed motion for default judgment, docket no. 60. Having reviewed all papers filed in support of the motion and the relevant portions of the record, the Court enters the following order.

Background

In April 2014, plaintiffs commenced this action against United Collection Service, Inc. and Karen Danieli, alleging violations of various provisions of the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (“FDCPA”), specifically 15 U.S.C. §§ 1692b(1)-(2), 1692c(b), 1692d(6), 1692e(11), 1692(f), and violation of Washington’s Consumer Protection Act (“CPA”). Compl. (docket no. 1). In November 2014, plaintiffs joined as defendants Universal Tracing Services, Inc. (“UTSI”) and John Doe. See Am. Compl. (docket no. 14). Pursuant to a stipulation of the relevant parties, plaintiffs’ claims against United Collection Service, Inc. and Karen Danieli were dismissed with prejudice. See Order

1 (docket no. 18). In July 2015, plaintiffs identified Ron Larsen, also known as Ronald 2 Larsen, as the “John Doe” defendant, and initiated attempts to serve him in Canada. See 3 2d Am. Compl. (docket no. 31). Plaintiffs were eventually granted leave to, and aver that 4 they did, effect service on Larsen by domestic certified mail, international registered 5 mail, and e-mail. See Order (docket no. 42); Decl. of Serv. (docket nos. 43, 44, & 45).

6 The operative pleading asserts the same FDCPA and CPA claims against UTSI
7 and Larsen that were alleged against United Collection Service, Inc. and Karen Danieli.
8 See 2d Am. Compl. (docket no. 31). The operative pleading also includes claims against 9 UTSI and Larsen for outrage and negligence. Default has been entered against both 10 Universal Tracing Services, Inc. and Ron Larsen. See Order (docket no. 25); Order
11 (docket no. 48). In June 2016, the Court denied a previous motion for default judgment
12 against UTSI and Larsen because plaintiffs had failed to link either defendant to the debt 13 collection activities at issue and did not provide sufficient, non-speculative evidence to 14 support their claim for damages related to lost home-buying opportunities. See Minute 15 Order (docket no. 58). Plaintiffs now renew their request for default judgment, offering 16 additional evidence concerning UTSI and Larsen, but foregoing the claim for damages
17 based on the increase in median home prices in Snohomish County, as well as in interest 18 rates, over the period at issue.

19 Discussion

20 A. Fair Debt Collection Practices Act

21 Although plaintiffs have bolstered their factual allegations against UTSI and 22 Larsen, they have still not provided sufficient proof to warrant default judgment as to

1 their various FDCPA claims. According to Shawna Velo, sometime after April 22, 2013, 2 she received a call from a man identifying himself as Detective Parker from the Edmonds 3 Police Department. S. Velo Decl. at ¶¶ 3-4 (docket no. 62). Detective Parker allegedly 4 stated that mail had been stolen from plaintiffs' mailbox, that he had a suspect named 5 Antoine Jackson in custody, and that he was investigating a possible identity theft. Id. at 6 ¶ 5. Detective Parker asked Shawna Velo whether her husband knew Antoine Jackson 7 and apparently obtained from her the identity of her husband's employer and plaintiffs'
8 bank account information. Id. at ¶ 6. On August 5, 2016, plaintiffs' attorney sent 9 Shawna Velo three Internet links to audio recordings of Ron Larsen's voice, and Shawna 10 Velo "identified" Ron Larsen as the person posing as Detective Parker in April 2013. Id.
11 at ¶ 7. At some unspecified time, under unexplained circumstances, approximately 12 $7,400 was taken from plaintiffs' bank account by an unknown person or entity. Id. at 13 ¶ 28; see G. Velo Decl. at ¶ 18 (docket no. 61).

14 Plaintiffs' allegations, which are taken as true in connection with their motion for 15 default judgment, do not establish a violation of the FDCPA. The FDCPA governs the 16 activities of debt collectors, who are persons using "any instrumentality of interstate 17 commerce or the mails in any business the principal purpose of which is the collection of 18 any debts" or "regularly collect[ing] or attempt[ing] to collect, directly or indirectly, 19 debts owed or due or asserted to be owed or due another." 15 U.S.C. § 1692a(6). The 20 facts set forth in plaintiffs' operative pleading and declarations do not establish that 21 Larsen was engaged in debt collection activities when he impersonated a law 22 enforcement officer. Larsen/Parker did not mention any debt or seek any payment from

1 Shawna Velo. Rather, he used a ruse to gather information with which either funds or an 2 identity could later be stolen. Such outright thievery is not the focus of the FDCPA.
 3 See 15 U.S.C. § 1692 (“It is the purpose of this subchapter to eliminate abusive debt
 4 collection practices by debt collectors, to insure that those debt collectors who refrain 5 from using abusive debt collection practices are not competitively disadvantaged, and to 6 promote consistent State action to protect consumers against debt collection abuses.”).<sup>1</sup>
 7 Plaintiffs’ motion for default judgment on their FDCPA claims is DENIED.

8 B. Consumer Protection Act

9 To establish a violation of the CPA, a private plaintiff must prove: (i) the 10 defendant engaged in an unfair or deceptive act or practice; (ii) such act or practice 11 occurred within a trade or business; (iii) such act or practice affected the public interest; 12 (iv) the plaintiff suffered an injury to his or her business or property; and (v) a causal 13 relationship exists between the defendant’s act or practice and the plaintiff’s injury.

14 Hangman Ridge Training Stables, Inc. v. Safeco Title Ins. Co., 105 Wn.2d 778, 785-93,
 15 719 P.2d 531 (1986). Whether conduct constitutes an unfair or deceptive trade practice
 16 within the meaning of the CPA constitutes a question of law. Robinson v. Avis Rent A 17 Car Sys., Inc., 106 Wn. App. 104, 114, 22 P.3d 818 (2001). To qualify, the alleged act
 18 must have had the “capacity to deceive a substantial portion of the public.” Hangman 19 Ridge, 105 Wn.2d at 785 (emphasis in original). The Court is satisfied that

20 _____
 21 <sup>1</sup> Plaintiffs continue to offer no link between Larsen and Jerry Garcia, who did demand payment on a 22 debt. See S. Velo Decl. at ¶¶ 8, 13; see also Minute Order at ¶ 2 (docket no. 58) (observing that a report 23 from the Snohomish County Sheriff’s Office indicated that Jerry Garcia was employed by United Collection Service, Inc., which is no longer a party to this action, and that he denied impersonating a law enforcement officer).

1 impersonating a law enforcement officer to obtain financial information has the capacity
 2 to deceive a substantial portion of the public and is actionable as an unfair or deceptive
 3 act or practice. The bulk of plaintiffs' damages, however, which are for the costs of 4 therapy, physician visits, and prescription medications, as well as for emotional distress,<sup>2</sup>
 5 are not compensable under the CPA. See Frias v. Asset Foreclosure Servs., Inc., 181
 6 Wn.2d 412, 430-31, 334 P.3d 529 (2014). The only actual damages plaintiffs may 7 recover under the CPA are related to their travel from their home to the Snohomish
 8 County Sheriff's office to report the call from Larsen/Parker. The Court will award 9 plaintiffs $8.48, trebled to $25.44, along with reasonable attorney's fees and costs.

10 C. Tort Claims

11 1. Outrage

12 In Washington, intentional infliction of emotional distress constitutes the same tort 13 as outrage. Kloepfel v. Bokor, 149 Wn.2d 192, 193 n.1, 66 P.3d 630 (2003). Under 14 Washington law, the elements of the tort of outrage are: (i) extreme and outrageous 15 conduct; (ii) intentional or reckless infliction of emotional distress; and (iii) actual result 16 to the plaintiff of severe emotional distress. Kloepfel, 149 Wn.2d at 195; Dombrosky v.
 17 Farmers Ins. Co. of Wash., 84 Wn. App. 245, 261, 928 P.2d 1127 (1997). The claim 18 must be predicated on conduct that is "so outrageous in character, so extreme in degree, 19 as to go beyond all possible bounds of decency, and to be regarded as atrocious, and

20 <sup>2</sup> Shawna Velo has indicated that she sought counseling with a therapist named Hemlata Mistry as a result 21 of her interaction with Larsen/Parker. She suffered feelings of guilt for being gullible, has had difficulty 22 taking care of her children, has panic attacks and a phobia of answering the phone, and experiences 23 exhaustion, depression, and problems in her marriage, as well as distress over not being able to afford a home. S. Velo Decl. at ¶ 22, 24, 28-29. Gilman Alfred Roy Velo has also received therapy services from Mistry and states that plaintiffs' marriage has "suffered immensely." G. Velo Decl. at ¶ 16.

1 utterly intolerable in a civilized community.” Klopfel, 149 Wn.2d at 196; Dombrosky, 2 84 Wn. App. at 261. Although impersonating a law enforcement officer is illegal, the 3 Court cannot conclude, as a matter of law, as requested by plaintiffs that such behavior 4 rises to the level of being atrocious, utterly intolerable, and beyond all possible bounds of 5 decency, and thus, the Court declines to enter default judgment against UTSI and 6 Larsen/Parker as to plaintiffs’ claim of outrage.

7 2. Negligence

8 The elements of negligence are (i) the existence of a duty; (ii) breach of that duty;
9 (iii) resulting injury; and (iv) proximate causation. E.g., Ranger Ins. Co. v. Pierce Cnty., 10 164 Wn.2d 545, 552, 192 P.3d 886 (2008). Plaintiffs have not established that 11 Larsen/Parker owed them a duty within the meaning of the negligence doctrine. The 12 duties pleaded in their Second Amended Complaint, namely to not impersonate a law 13 enforcement officer and to not aid or abet unlicensed persons to engage in the business of 14 debt collection, are not duties specifically owed to plaintiffs, but rather to the public 15 generally, and cannot form the basis of a claim for negligence. See Taylor v. Stevens 16 Cnty., 111 Wn.2d 159, 163, 759 P.2d 447 (1988) (“The threshold determination in a 17 negligence action is whether a duty of care is owed by the defendant to the plaintiff.
18 Whether the defendant is a governmental entity or a private person, to be actionable, the 19 duty must be one owed to the injured plaintiff, and not one owed to the public in 20 general.”). Plaintiffs’ motion for default judgment on their tort claims is DENIED.

1    D. Injunctive Relief

2        In connection with their request for injunctive relief, plaintiffs make no allegation
3 that UTSI or Larsen/Parker are continuing to contact them or to impersonate law
4 enforcement personnel. To the contrary, a report by Seattle Police Detective Nathan 5 Janes indicates that, when confronted about an employee's impersonation of a law
6 enforcement officer, Larsen stated "It will never happen again. Really. It won't happen
7 again. I can assure you, it won't. It won't." Ex. K to Fullmer Decl. (docket no. 63-6 8 at 9). The Court is persuaded that an injunction to prohibit Larsen from engaging in 9 criminal activity is unnecessary and unsupported by the record before the Court.

10    Conclusion

11        For the foregoing reasons, plaintiffs' renewed motion for default judgment, docket 12 no. 60, is GRANTED in part and DENIED in part. Plaintiffs' related motion for leave to 13 file an overlength brief, docket no. 59, is GRANTED. With regard to plaintiffs' claim
14 under Washington's Consumer Protection Act, the Clerk is DIRECTED to enter default 15 judgment in favor of plaintiffs and against defendants Universal Tracing Services, Inc.
16 and Ron Larsen a/k/a Ronald Larsen in the following amounts: (i) $8.48 in actual 17 damages, trebled to $25.44; (ii) $3,000 as reasonable attorney's fees<sup>3</sup>; and (iii) $1,009.81
18 in costs, for a total of $4,035.25, together with interest pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1961 at 19 the rate of one percent (1.0%) per annum from the date of judgment until paid in full.

22       <sup>3</sup> Plaintiffs' counsel's requested fees of $6,150.00 have been reduced to reflect plaintiffs' limited success.
23 Plaintiffs did not prevail on their initial motion for default judgment, as to which counsel billed $850 in fees, and obtained judgment on only one of their fifteen claims.

1 The Clerk is further DIRECTED to send a copy of this Order to all counsel of record and 2 to CLOSE this case.

3 IT IS SO ORDERED.
